imaginary soundscape : cross-modal approach to generate cross-modal feature from an image of "google street view", and searches a sound ?le matching with the image. our project can have us reconsider the concept of "soundscape" from the aspect of computational creativity. users can walk around in street view and listen to the "imaginary" soundscape at our website. 1 introduction comparison of coherent and spontaneous raman r , r , and r , directly searches for the imaginary and real part of r (3). the latter is possible if there exists a frequency for which the imaginary part of r (3) is equal to 0 (21). we note that this method is ideally suitable for a broadband cars microspectroscopy, because a typical cars onset but not offset of irrelevant motion disrupts visual searches in complex environments because it bi-ases a search toward fresh sources of input. consistent with this view are findings that ior operates in an object-based reference frame. for example, tipper, driver, and weaver (1991) presented two objects on an imaginary circle centered at fixation. the objects both labs transition states - university of waterloo

1 transition states. a transition state is a first order saddle point on a potential energy surface (pes). the vibrational spectrum of a transition state is characterized by one imaginary frequency (implying a negative force constant), which means that in one direction in nuclear configuration space the energy has a maximum, while in all other (orthogonal) directions lacan's three concepts: the imaginary, the borromean knot searches for itself an imagined identification. lacan combines insight from freudian theory of primary narcissism, the animal ethology, and the transformative power of gestalt—the subject's relation with the unitary image and the imaginary representation through which the subject sees and identifies other persons.

potential energy surface (pes), transition state, saddle potential energy surface (pes), transition state, saddle point, reaction pathway for the reaction $a + b \rightarrow c$ a pes might look like the following: the minima are represented by a and b which could be reactant and product, or two conformers.

chemistry 433, fs02, dr. glaser computational chemistry chemistry 433, fs02, dr. glaser computational chemistry assignment: transition state searches. the location of a transition state structure (one imaginary frequency, one negative curvature) is generally more difficult than the location of a minimum. often, one needs to have a pretty good guess as to what the transition state structure looks like to jaguar – dft optimizations and transition state searches
